Question #1

What are the differences with the current project structure compared to the previous structure which was utilized by the GOJ in the 2015 tender process?

Response #1

As part of the new process, the GoJ reviewed all aspects of the transaction and gathered market feedback to determine the most competitive project structure. Further details on the structure and project are provided in the Information Memorandum. The main changes include: a longer concession term, a capital investment program in line with safety and level of service requirements and a reduction in the upfront concession fee.
